LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERALITY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL.

BELLEVEILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY DECEMBER 1, 1887.

What an Ocean Steamer Consumed.

(From the Manchester Union.)

They say that "go down to the sea in ships" is the most modern thing we have, but we have an opportunity to observe something of the horrors of the sea.

nature, when released from some of the conventionalities and given over to the illness. According to a pamphlet recently published, the passengers on a popular ship in one year's time, will of about 10,000 quarts of champagne, 10,000 bottles of ale and porter, 175,000 of mineral water, and 34,000 of spirits.

They will smoke in the same time 64,000 cigars and 56,000 cigarettes, and use 34,300 pounds of tobacco in other forms.

This is a pretty good showing for the smokers and drinkers, but everybody eats, and the

on the ship make a still more remarkable record upon the scores. According to the authority referred to, more than two hundred pounds of meat are consumed, requiring 4,500 sheep, 1,600 lambs, and

2,474 oxen. Twenty-one thousand and 200, 177,770 lbs. of coffee are consumed by 200, 100 pounds of sugar, while 531,000 are cooked in every style imaginable. Some of the most common are: One and one-half tons of marmalade, 5,000 jars of jam, 15 tons of mince, 22 tons of raisins, 2,300 lbs. of sugar, 400 tons of flour, 500 tons of potatoes,

2,000 cases and 23 tons of biscuits. Plainly, Dr. B. Franklin's directions for preparing to embark would need revising now.

Give Them a Chance?

To that is your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very much machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

They cough, cough, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or, in other words, of throat and lung obstructions.

All right to be got rid of. The doctor is invaluable for healing the throat. That is to take Boecher's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. From it even the worst has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

A Safe Nursery Powder.

The Druggists' Circular gives a formula for preparing a nursery powder that will be sure to be of service. Gum camphor, 1 ounce. Carbolic acid, 15 drops. Oil of English peppermint, 15 drops. Oil of rose, 5 drops. Oil of neroli, 5 drops.

Put the camphor in a fine powder in a mortar, using alcohol to reduce it, and mix the other components thoroughly. The powder is invaluable for healing the throat and for curing croup. Mixed in the proportion of three parts of raspberry or cold cream, it forms a most useful domestic remedy in the way of a general healing salve.

"HACKMETT" is a lasting and fragrant perfume. It is a lasting and fragrant

THE FUNERAL.

(Will Carlton, in Harper's Weekly.)

I was walking in Savannah, past a church doorway and down a street.

When there slowly through the window came a plaintive funeral hymn:

"A sympathy awakened, and a wonder quickly grew.

Till I found myself enmeshed in a little world of sorrow."

Out at front a colored couple sat in sorrow nearly wild:

"On the altar was a coffin, in the coffin was a child."

I could picture him while living—curly hair, protruding lips—

And I had pictured a thousand in my hurried Southern trip.

But no baby ever rested in the soothing arms of death.

That had fanned more flames of sorrow with its gentle, little breath:

And no funeral ever gladdened with more sympathy profound.

Rose and a colored preacher at the little wooden desk—

With a manner grandly awkward, with a countenance grotesque,

With simplicity and shrewdness on his face, and

With the ignorance and wisdom of a crushed, undying race,

And he said: "Now don't be weeping for the little pretty boy who lived here."

For he little boy who lived here does not go any run away.

For he little boy very truly, and he 'prentice your love,

But sure 'nuff Father want him in de large house up above.

"Now He didn't give you dat baby by a hundred thousand mile!"

He didn't give you need some sunshine, and He didn't give you love."

He let you keep 'n love it till you shine, and An' de little boy was bigger grown,

An' de little boy was bigger grown, and de little boy was bigger grown,

An' de little boy was bigger grown, and de little boy was bigger grown,

An' de little boy was bigger grown, and de little boy was bigger grown,

An' de little boy was bigger grown, and de little boy was bigger grown,

An' de little boy was bigger grown, and de little boy was bigger grown,

An' de little boy was bigger grown, and de little boy was bigger grown,

An' de little boy was bigger grown, and de little boy was bigger grown,

An' de little boy was bigger grown, and de little boy was bigger grown,

An' de little boy was bigger grown, and de little boy was bigger grown,

An' de little boy was bigger grown, and de little boy was bigger grown,

Trade of our Harbor.

Imports and Exports by Vessel—Twelve and Timber—Fifty-four.

At our request Mr. Alex. Watson, Harbor Master, prepared a statement from the books of the trade of the harbor during the past season, which is as follows:

Number of bushels of grain shipped by water during the season of 1887: Barley, 134,250; Oats, 14,760; Wheat, 144,350.

Tally of Sawlogs, &c., put through the boom at Belleville during season of 1887: Sawlogs, 253,257; Pine, 775; Cedar, 30; Spruce, 27,911; Timber, 13,000; Logs, 9,000; Long Logs, 9,087; Timber, 31.

Total number of pieces, 335,030.

Number of tons of coal landed at Belleville during season of 1887, 187,975.

It will be seen that there has been a large increase in the trade of the harbor during the season, which is now forward by rail during the season which navigation is closed.

The imports of coal show a steady increase, as the "black diamonds" are coming more generally inland, and they are being shipped through the boom is considerably below the estimate, which, owing to the low level of the water, whereby a large portion of the drive was "hung up."

The revenue of the harbor will, in consequence, fall considerably short of the estimate.

Hyman's Afters.

Two weddings of interest occurred in this city yesterday afternoon. Mr. Hyman M. Cargat and Miss Nellie Lester were united at the residence of Mr. John Lester by Rev. Mr. Leonard, the bride being attended by Miss Maude Doris of Port Hope, the groom by his brother, Mr. Cyrus McCargat. About guests, consisting of the Catholic and Protestant, were present at the ceremony. The customary gifts were presented and the couple took the evening train for the west.

The other event was the union of Mr. John Borbridge, a popular and universally esteemed member of the G. O. P. band, with Miss Jeanne McFee, daughter of Mr. Alan McFee. Mr. John W. W. Paul, an old time and warm friend of the groom, supported him, while the bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Maud McFee. Both contracting parties are well known and popular. Rev. Mr. W. McLean performed the ceremony, which was a most successful one. Handsome and valuable gifts were given to the bride. The couple are a joy to the community.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLVILLE SATURDAY, DEC. 10.

GRIT TACTICS IN KINGSTON.

The investigation into the return of Sir John Macdonald for Kingston, developed, as we previously stated, some of the facts of the party of unity. We have a fair sample of the following:

E. Dougherty, agent, deposed as follows:—I am a voter in the town of Bellville, and I hold no office, but I had a lot of money up and wanted to vote for Mr. Macdonald. I said he could get me a "piece" if I voted right. I asked him how much. He said $10. I said I had no money. I saw him, and we agreed to take it. We got into a wagon with Boyd and found two envelopes there containing $10 each. We each got one. Boyd put them there. Boyd got it from Henry Wilkinson.

He would not say he had never sold his vote before. He had not got the envelope with the money in, and he did not know what he had done.

Henry A. Smith contributed the statements of the last witness. On cross-examination he was asked if he had sold his vote, and he would do again if he got the chance. There was a reward of $200 offered for one who would sell his vote, and it was arranged that Dougherty and I should take care of the reward. (Complaint was made by Mr. Clark, who is a brother-in-law to Dougherty, that he was paid $200 for his vote, and I got $20, Dougherty $20 and Clark $20, and we were to get the balance if the election was voided.)

The balance was examined as to the agency of Wilkinson and Boyd. Mr. Henry J. Wilkinson was absolutely certain that he had spent any money in bribery and disclaimed all knowledge of the Dougherty affair.

This brings all the evidence on these charges, the judge asked Mr. Blake what he had to say on them, and he admitted that neither the charge nor the agency was proven, and the judge thereupon dismissed the charges.

Here we have two men deliberately voting for that received $10 each for selling their vote for Sir John A. Macdonald, and when questioned, had to admit that they had made an agreement with Mr. Whiting, a leading Grit lawyer in Kingston, that they should receive $200 if they gave such evidence as would set the election aside, and had actually received $20 each on account of the balance to be paid when the election was voided. After Mr. Wilkinson, who had been accused of paying the money, had denied positively that he had done so, even after the prosecution had admitted that the charge nor the agency was proven.

Under the circumstances, what must be thought of the Whiting agreement with this previous pair of witnesses? Comment is needless.

After reading this evidence in the Mail, we turned to the Globe, and found, as was anticipated, that the case was but half given, and the name of Whiting omitted altogether. Such is Grit's reputation, and such was the mode adopted to void the Kingston election. Is it any wonder the Grit party is demoralized?

In one case an attempt was made to fasten the charge of bribery upon Mr. McCarly, who is now dead, here the party were safe in any statement they might make, knowing it would not be refuted, but the judge dismissed the charge.

Here is another choice tid-bit to which we previously called attention. It was a mean election. Nobody offered him anything or promised him anything for his vote. He had got money once from Dodd, the poet and teacher. He said he got nothing if he did he would have known it.

McCarly was put into the witness box to prove that he had been bribed by the Conservatives. The Grits threw a bombarding shell, and Mr. Dodd will tell them the facts of the blow for a time—any until about the date of the next election. What a nice lot the Grits of Kingston are to praise their purity and elections and "Grit" corruption. The lesson which they have received ought to silence their hypocritical clamor for all time to come.

EDITORIAL BRIEFINGS.

Protection is every where making headway. Germany and Russia have lately adopted a strongly protective provision in their tariff, while in Spain the defeat of the Ministry by the protectionists seems imminent and in Great Britain the action of the Conservative party and of the Central Chamber of Agriculture shows that free trade is being way to the landings of the sea.

The Guinness Archives indignantly denies that "Mr. Patrick Parnell, M.P., will give the Government an important support." But there is such a thing as "moral support," and Mr. Parnell is a contractor.

How thoroughly demoralized the Tory camp must be when they assume that all contractors must necessarily be Government contractors.—Montreal Star.

No good, Hadd. The assumption which you attempt to father on the Conservative papers was made by the Grits.

Sir John Macdonald must feel that the failure of the petition against him in Kingston actually means the victory of his kind.—Star.

Gall and wormwood, and a big dose of overwork and overcompensation. No wonder the weather appears so badly as it did in Ancient Pistol when he ate his loss.

The Mail fancies it was a parallel between the temporary insufficiency of the existing ferry accommodation between Belleville and Prince Edward and the one of the United States.

These matters are not likely to receive much attention at Ottawa. Our day is ready over $50 per head of the population, while that of the United States is under $20.—Mail.

The effects of bad company are plainly visible in the above. The Mail, since it became a Grit organ, cannot tell the truth.

Sore Eyes

The eyes are always in sympathy with the body, and afford an exact index of its condition. When the eyes become weak, and the lids inflamed and sore, it is an evidence that the system has become disordered. In such cases, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best known remedy.

Rheumatism, which produced a painful inflammation in my eye, caused me much suffering for a number of years. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I have cured my eye's Sarsaparilla. After using the medicine a short time I was completely

For a number of years I was troubled with humors in my blood, and was unable to obtain any relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has effected a complete cure, and I believe it to be the best of blood purifiers.

My daughter, ten years old, was afflicted with rheumatic sore eyes. During the winter of 1887, she was afflicted with kind. Physicians of the highest standing were consulted, but without any success. On the recommendation of a friend, I procured a bottle of Ayer's sore eyes, which my daughter commenced using. After using it a few days, the bottle her sight was restored, and she was able to see as well as before. She now has no more pain. Her cure is complete. — W. E.

In our experience many persons have resorted to have eyes that are unlit, that are curving inward, that differ in shape, and in sustaining power for each eye, which combination in one frame will give them the best results. These persons have had difficulty in obtaining spectacles to suit them, are continually irritated, and find that the eyes are not doing

That child is growing bilious," the lady remarked, with her strong glare at an shrinking Polly, "or about to have an attack of jaundice. People always turn green and fall into low spirits before jaundice. Do you feel a general itching all over, Polly, and an inclination to cry?"

Occupation a scene painter.

That is the way, my lord. Yer, I know him.

And he has a ward—she passes for his son, a girl of sixteen—called Polly.

Had Lord Montague not been so strong-ed by his habits and qualities he must have noticed Mr. Fane's greatly disturbed mind.

Yes, my lord, there is a Polly Mason

—this is the girl! His lordship shut up his habits with a violent, and he has what she like? I'll lay my life she has thick black hair, and auburn hair, and turned up nose.

You would lose your state, then, my lord, if you were to say anything like that? He said this, "and he has been an effort to say this, "and he has been a handsome girl I ever saw in the whole world of life."

Ah, is she? His lordship sighed resolutely. "All the world for me. An heir and a ward with a such name would be trouble enough, but a ward with a Greek name is a great deal more than I could beget for my son. I'll lay my life she has one long ladyfinger—this is only the last year that very likely will break the candle's back."

Alas, Fane looked at the speaker with a face of ghastly wonder.

Guy Earls Court's Wife.

A NOVEL.

BY HAY ADAMS FERRIS, AUTHOR OF "A

WOODWARD, WOMAN, ETC., ETC.

"You know it," she repeated, "you

"You have deceived me long enough, all of you

"I am not a liar. I will be deceived no longer

"This much, you will find, I have been

"I have walked three miles through darkness

"and storm to reach the truth, and you shall

"I speak it. On the day the accused day

"upon which I stood at the altar, Sir Vane

"Charlton's bride, Robert, my Robert, my "husband, my love, was in the church look

"ing at my jewelry. And you know it. I live

"in it, and like the man who hides it, I

"from me who know how I loved him

"you whom I never wronged!

"Her voice sank to an unutterable pathos,

"her eyes looked at him unutterably and

"unutterably reproachful. Duke fairly gasped.

"I did, my lady—forgive me if you can!

"It was wrong—I thought, from the first,

"but what could I do? He had me keep "his secret from you—from you most of all

"on earth. What could I do but obey?"

"He rose and said:

"I mean the man who called himself

"Robert Hawley, the man who was

"as I know very well now, and your husband.

"You were told—how he found me by a

"kind chance never to take me to the "chance to meet you again. What could I "do, my lady? I don't know how you have "found this out; but the facts themselves

"confess that I hardly know who is the right

"man to take to the altar, and I am

"that night in Montreal, Park, but

"I feared—I feared! What right had I to "tell you that? But I was the wife of a "band, bound by the tie of motherhood!

"And so I held my peace. I am sorry

"for you, my lady, every day of my "heart. I would help you, Heaven knows,

"if I could."

"She said, still retaining that

"deep, unutterable pain. "I have come to

"you twice before you added me to my

"great need; now help me, now help me

"in the third time, in a greater extremity still."

"She held out both hands to him. He "remembered the gesture. He had seen it

"as the shadow of the window of Lyndith

"and he had seen it in her face, as

"on that night he had seen it, more

"than he could have done."

"I will help you, if I can. Tell me

"what you want."

"Not that name! she cried, rising

"in her voice and face. "Never again

"shall I use it. I have said it. I do

"the man that bears it! I am Olivia

"Lyle. Thank God I can say it. Thank "God, that my darling little child, I should

"never see his face again!"

"She sank into a chair, and the woman

"who had been her guide, her guide

"her face with her hands, and the room

"was filled with her anguish—her "anguish that was still half-delirious. The "Oceans rolled between them—leagues of "land divided them—a deeper gulf than

Vase full.

I never saw such a change of my husband as I saw that of the baronet to that instant—so that he seemed to stand him. But the people around him, who

Everybody left the church, and Robert was there alone.

(To be continued.)

Polly's heart thrilled as she said it, "of high birth and station and wealth, and never once to see or ask after me again.

The situation was growing worse and worse. Lord Montalton felt more uncomfortable than he had ever remembered feeling in his life.

"I have reason to believe she is," he answered slowly.

"Why did she not have everything, and go to America with my father when he came here?"

"Foolish! I don't know. Yes, I do—I'll tell you the truth, some what may. She did not return with him because—she loved the wife of another man."

"The girl's very lips blanched at the words.

"The wife of another man! She thought she did not ask her out and undecide

he had."

"No, he left England and returned to America. Don't blame your mother, my child, she thought him dead; she was convinced in the second marriage, beyond doubt; if alive at all, she was long dead.

How she came to give you to Duke

Mason, Duke Mason will tell you himself.

She had good reasons for her action, and she could not have given you to a better man. Rest contented with your wonderful good fortune, my dear; and don't ask too many questions. You are a great heaven no wonder. Try and think of that."

INFANTILE SKIN DISEASES.

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when a few days months old, was attacked with a violent, malignant skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing we called our family physician, who attended to cure it; but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the end of the year (1871) the little fellow's person, from the middle of his neck down to his knees, was one solid rash. He was very restless, and we could not get him to rest at night, no peace by day. We had him taken to the hospital, where the doctor was advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDY. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure was wrought, leaving the little fellow's person as white and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion, the valuable properties of Cuticura for life, and long life is a strong, healthy child, perfectly free from repetition of the disease having ever occurred.

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN

Are born into the world every day with some cutaneous affection, such as milk crust, scald head, scurf, or dandruff, sure to develop into an agonizing eczema, the itching, burning, and disfigurement of which make life a prolonged torture unless properly treated.

A warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite skin Beautifier, and a sure application of CUTICURA Great Skin Cure, with a little CUTICURA Resolvent, the NEW Blood Purifier, are often sufficient to arrest the progress of the disease, and point to a speedy and permanent cure.

Hence, no mother who loves her children, who ness pride their beauty, purity, and health, and in bestowing upon their child's greatest inheritance—its skin—about a hundred and fifty people mortally perished. It is a blood-farce and a make trial of the CUTICURA REMEDY.

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA TOILET SOAP, 12 CENTS; REVOLVER, $1.50. Prepared by the FORT LINDA DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass.

A WORD.

My Lords and Gentlemen of the City Council, the season of 1897 is drawing to a close. I have been fairly diligent and painstaking in my efforts to satisfy your patriotic desire for a highly romantic and sentimental personal appearance. Each of you should be the first man in the land to see me.

You form local opinion to a certain extent, as guide it.

You pilot us on the path we are to walk for the benefit of the community, and incidental to themselves.

But you have a higher and nobler duty to perform.

You have to educate the tastes of the masses.

Now I ask some of you—more in sorrow than in anger—can this be done effectually in your present condition?

Can you, as before your clients in ancient headpieces calculated to evoke such remarks as "Oh, what a Beaver," "Shoot the hat" etc., as respect your words to carry weight to my lords and gentlemen?

In this case one example is worth a thousand.

And when the example only costs, as in the case, say about five dollars, it is doubly your duty.

By a strange coincidence I find that my stock of fine furs is now complete, and ready for inspection.
